

BURROWES STATE SCHOOL

Homework Policy

BURROWES
STATE SCHOOL

Freedom to Learn

Introduction

As stated in Education Queensland Policy, homework should:

- Allow for student commitment for family, recreation, community and cultural activities.
- Not disadvantage students by the lack of access to resources such as computers and the internet outside school.
- Be effective in supporting learning.

Homework is most effective when it:

- is clearly related to class work
- is appropriate to particular years of schooling
- is varied and differentiated to individual learning needs
- consolidates, revises and/or applies student's classroom learning
- develops students' independence as a learner through extension activities such as investigating, researching, writing, designing and making
- assists students to prepare for upcoming classroom learning, such as collecting relevant materials and information, completing surveys and audits
- is monitored by the teacher

At Burrowes State School we believe:

Homework is an important part of the learning process, as it gives students the opportunity to consolidate learning and share their school experiences with their family. The setting of homework takes into account the need for students to have a balanced lifestyle (such as time for family, recreation and cultural pursuits).

Responsibilities

Our school community identifies that learning is a partnership that requires all parties to do their part to make it successful. Children, teachers, administration and parents all have some responsibility for ensuring that homework tasks are completed.

The Role of Students is to:

- Be aware of the school's homework policy.
- Discuss with their parents or caregivers, the expectations of homework.
- Accept responsibility for the completion of homework tasks with set time frames.
- Follow up on comments made by teachers.
- Seek assistance when difficulties arise.
- Organise their time to manage homework expectations and participation in physical, recreational and cultural activities.

Parents and caregivers can help their children by:

- Reading to them, talking with them and involving them in tasks at home including shopping, playing games and physical activity.
- Helping them to complete tasks by discussing key questions or directing them to resources.
- Encouraging them to organise their time and take responsibility for their learning.
- Encouraging them to read and to take an interest in and discuss current local, national and international events.
- Helping them to balance the amount of time spent completing homework, watching television, playing computer games, playing sport and engaging in other recreational activities.
- Contacting the relevant teacher to discuss any concerns about the nature of homework and their child's approach to the homework.
